This capacity can be affected by the following self valuations:

- [I2-] Creates a tendency to be too sensitive to others,
- [E2-] Creates a need to rely on others which may lead to conflicting and inconsistent decisions and actions,
- [S2-] May lead to a sense of hesitancy and create a tendency to avoid personal confrontations.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
PRACTICAL JUDGMENT
LEVEL TWO -- CLEAR (ATTENTIVE)

CLARITY

These Individuals:

1. have a very good capacity for practical judgment providing them the ability to see, understand, and appreciate the functional worth and the usefulness of material things, people, and circumstances,
2. understand the importance of activities such as evaluating, critiquing, comparing, and categorizing,
3. have the ability for operational activities, doing, functioning, and executing,
4. have the ability to realistically stay in touch with what is happening,
5. understand what needs to be done in practical, common sense terms.

ATTENTION

These individuals not only have keen insight but also are attentive to practical thinking and attaining immediate results. This concentration on practical pragmatic thinking can have positive and negative effects:

On the positive side:

1. there is this strong street sense that gives them the ability to readily identify where there is a problem, and to evaluate practical alternatives for resolving the problem.
2. they have an excellent capacity for concrete organization, tactical and action oriented planning.

On the negative side:

1. these individuals may tend to become too results and 'now' oriented.
2. they tend to be too evaluative and advice giving.
3. they can become consumed with their need to be practical and pragmatic.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
PRACTICAL JUDGMENT
LEVEL TWO -- CLEAR (ATTENTIVE)

BALANCE WITH WORLD

This capacity can be affected by the following world valuations:

- [I1-] Can reinforce the tendency to pay too much attention to pragmatic thinking,
- [S1-] Reinforces the attention to 'now' and results oriented thinking to the point that they can overlook the consequences of decisions and delay strategic planning activities.

BALANCE WITH SELF

This capacity can be affected by the following self valuations:

- [I2-] Can reinforce the excess attention to practical, pragmatic thinking,
- [E2-] Can tend to generate a sense of delay when these people know practically what to do but do not always act on the knowledge,
- [S2-] Can generate a conflict between common sense decisions and an uncertainty about deciding until the best course of action has been determined.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
SYSTEM JUDGMENT
LEVEL TWO -- CLEAR (INATTENTIVE)

CLARITY

These Individuals:

1. have a very good ability for seeing and appreciating system, order, conceptual planning, and organizing,
2. can see and understand the need for authority, conformity, order and consistency which maintains orderliness and constancy,
3. can see and understand the importance of ideas, ideals, belief systems, conceptual and imaginative thinking,
4. can understand the need for conceptual planning and organizing which brings a frame of reference and provides a sense of consistent meaning, which connects the past, present and future.

ATTENTION

4. feel uncomfortable in a rigidly controlled or structured environment,
5. lack a sense of urgency to order and structure the world,
 - o to conceptually structure thinking and planning, potentially to the point of reacting with hindsight.
6. de-emphasize conformity to organizational and social rules, norms and structure.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
SYSTEM JUDGMENT
LEVEL TWO -- CLEAR (INATTENTIVE)

BALANCE WITH WORLD

This capacity can be affected by the following world valuations:

- [I1-] Can reinforce the caution and the impulse to be a 'Doubting Thomas',
- [E1+] Will tend to lead this person to substitute concentration on 'now' thinking which will build a sense of reactivity and a tendency to be inattentive to the consequences of plans, decisions and actions, can reinforce the tendency to become disoriented in confused situations.

BALANCE WITH SELF

This capacity can be affected by the following self valuations:

- [I2-] Can create anxiety if this person looks to outside ideals and belief systems to reinforce inner self worth,
- [E2-] Can reinforce the sense of despair and frustration when disorder leads to unrealized plans or to unexpected results,
- [S2-] The inner uncertainty about the future will reinforce the lack of order in the world and create a sense of rebellion and disorder like a ship without a rudder.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
SELF ESTEEM
LEVEL TWO -- CLEAR (INATTENTIVE)

CLARITY

These Individuals:

1. have a very good capacity for self-awareness, for seeing and appreciating abilities and limitations without preconceived ideas and can be aware of their individuality and inner self-uniqueness,

1. a cautiously guarded, hesitant attitude that can cause them to delay development issues until they are certain of what is best,
2. anxious, restless, and frustrated feelings generated by doubts about whether they can or are serving a useful function,
3. potential boredom that can result as they no longer feel challenged by their role,
4. lack of identity with their role leading to lack of confidence that they are contributing as they should.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
ROLE AWARENESS
LEVEL TWO-- CLEAR (INATTENTIVE)

BALANCE WITH WORLD

This capacity can be affected by the following world valuations:

- [I1-] Can lead to frustration and disappointment as they seek to rely on others to help decide what course of action is best,
- [E1+] Can act as a means of support for the doubt and questions helping this person to decide what is best,
- [S1-] the sense of skepticism about norms and structure will reinforce the doubts and questions about social obligations.

BALANCE WITH SELF

This capacity can be affected by the following self valuations:

- [I2-] Reinforces the doubts and questions they are currently feeling and may create a need to delay decisions and actions until they decide the best course of action,
- [S2-] Reinforces the uncertainty increasing the possibility of delays in their decisions and actions.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
SELF DIRECTION
LEVEL THREE -- VISIBLE (INATTENTIVE)

CLARITY

These Individuals:

1. have the ability to be aware of inner self-order and self-direction,
2. have the ability to understand the need for a self 'ought', which can guide conduct and give them a clear and strong sense of self-meaning,
3. have the capacity for a strong sense of duty, loyalty, and commitment to inner ideals depending on the level of commitment to their sense of direction,
4. have the ability to understand the need for a strong sense of mission and purpose,
5. tend to be either unrealistically optimistic in their self-definition or to not be demanding enough.

ATTENTION

These individuals are in transition with respect to their self direction. They are uncertain about their goals and do not feel a compulsion to push ahead. As a result, they will:

1. lack a sense of urgency to get things done,
 - o be cautious, hesitant, and timid in their decisions,
 - o demand less out of themselves than they are capable of giving,
 - o question their ability to perform,
 - o delay decisions and actions,
 - o lack enthusiasm to take on new directions.
2. react with hindsight rather than foresight,
3. be susceptible to feelings of confusion and disorientation,
4. lack a strong sense of commitment, duty, perseverance, and self discipline.

Composite Attitude Survey (Analysis)
