- Sensitive to the needs and issues of others and to the protection of the individuality and freedom of others.
- May expect others to be better than they can be and become disappointed when they do not measure up to your expectations.
- Are likely to shift from being open and available to becoming cautious and suspecting of others.
- Have the ability to listen attentively, showing concern and respect; however, you may tend to avoid difficult, stressful, or confusing situations.
- Tend to think outside the box, seeing ideas and ways of doing things which others tend to miss because they think more by habit.
- Tend to be an individualist and an unconventional person, challenging existing ways of thinking and doing things.
- May become reactive and retroactive in your thinking, spending too much time and energy trying to see things from a different perspective.
- May develop a 'chip on the shoulder attitude' when things do not work out as you expect.
- Have both a clear and strong sense of self direction building persistence and stick-to-itiveness, loyalty to personal ideals and principles, and optimism that the best can and will happen.
- Rely on a preset, conceptual image of what you think you ought to be to define inner self worth and social/role image such that fulfillment and satisfaction are rooted in ambition and goal achievement.
- Tend to feel inadequate when you do not measure up, to be too hard and demanding on yourself.
- Tend to feel frustrated, anxious and dissatisfied because you believe that your current situation does not allow you to perform to potential or that you are not achieving your best.
- Commitment to personal goals and persistence can turn into stubborn insistence that your way is right regardless of circumstances.
